Participants will learn to make pellets by mixing native seeds with clay, soil/compost, and water. You will also learn how to process the native seed and prepare for the pellet creations.

The initiative to make seed pellets is a proactive step towards ecological restoration. To learn more about the Parks Desert Defender Program, visit <https://www.maricopacountyparks.net/about-us/desert-defenders/>.

Please bring water and a snack. Dress in clothes you do not mind getting dirty, or wear an apron. We will be indoors and outdoors near the nature center.

We encourage family participation; however, parents must be present for minors, and it is recommended that participants be at least five years of age.

Note: If less than three people register for each event, we reserve the right to cancel at least one day before. If canceled, email notifications will go to the registrants.
